The Anne Clémende Julien Foundation Haiti School & orphanage

We Have the orphans but couldn't built the orphanage

I assure you, as often as you did it for one of my least brothers and sisters, you did it for me. (Mat 25,40)

The Anne Clémende Julien Foundation is a non profit organization dedicated toward providing an education to impoverished Haitian children living in Chambellan, Haiti: The foundation's sponsors children who have been abandoned or who have deceased parents. In essence, the Anne Clémende Julien Foundation aims to give children and young adults their basic need for an education, while also supporting and providing for their basic needs for food, shelter and love.

HISTORY OF THE FOUNDATION

In the late seventies, with the help of a few neighbors, Anne Clémende Julien, the mother of Fr. Jean Ridly Julien purchased a piece of land in her hometown. On that property, she built a little community center to help illiterate adults read and write. Anne Clémende Julien was among those adult students. She learned to read and write between the age of 62—65. In 1988, Anne passed away while Father Ridly was in transit from Miami to Canada to complete his studies in theology. At that time, almost all of Father's siblings were in Miami, Florida. They expressed no interest in returning to Haiti.

In November of 1996 Father Jean Ridly Julien was ordained to the Holy Order of Priesthood in the Diocese of Bridgeport. In July of 1997 he returned to his home parish in Chambellan, Haiti to celebrate his first mass in his country. The school that his mother built was now abandoned and the family house was in bad condition. Having never forgotten the Lord's generosity, it was without hesitation that Father Ridly began to plan to continue his mother's work.

In August of 2002 Father began planning with Mr. Renel Labonté, the director of the only high school in Chambellan. He met with people in the community and soon opened The Anne Clémende Julien Foundation for orphans and the poorest in the area. Shortly after, the first class started with thirty kids. A year later, the foundation grew to two classes with sixty kids and forty adults. In September of 2004 the foundation welcomed 160 children, 60 adults, and a staff of eight employees. Special classes also began for young adults that had never received schooling. Among these youth was an eighteen year old girl who now had the opportunity to go to school for the first time in her life. Presently, the foundation continues to serve the neediest in the area. Now in 2019 we serve 312 children 25 adults and a staff of 20 employees.

Free Schooling

All children receive daily schooling, provided by trained staff, in writing, reading, mathematics, and science and life skills.

Text Books

Classroom books are provided to almost all children.

Uniforms committed

In keeping with the customs of public schools in Haiti, uniforms are provided to some of our children for school.

Meals are provided only when we have the possibility or a donation .

Trained Teachers

Trained and paid teachers work with the children every month.

Cooking Class

Trained and paid staff teach young adults the basics of cooking, art, graft and mahogany.

Medical Services

Children are taken to the local clinics when sick. Strong efforts are made to pay for the expenses
